Volcanoes National Park

The spectacular Virunga Mountains are the setting for Volcanoes National Park. This is Africa's sixth highest mountain range – the tallest volcano, Karisimbi, rises to 4,507m – and one of its most biodiverse. The park's most celebrated inhabitant is the mountain gorilla, which weighs up to 200kg and shares over 95% of its genes with humans. Other wildlife includes the endangered golden monkey, the elusive elephant and buffalo whose spoor are often seen on forest trails, and 180 bird species. You cannot enter this ecologically fragile park by car and no accommodation lies within its boundaries; exploration is limited to guided walking excursions such as gorilla tracking and volcano hikes.

Kigali (Day 2)

Centrally located in the hilly heart of Rwanda, the neat city of Kigali is your lively urban introduction to the Land of 1000 Hills and springboard for adventures further afield.
